

Md. Wahidul Islam

Teacher,
Full stack developer

I am an enthusiastic educator with a deep commitment to fostering the growth and development of my students. Armed with several months of experience, I have had the privilege of teaching various subjects and levels. My teaching philosophy revolves around crafting dynamic and interactive lessons tailored to the diverse needs and interests of my students. Beyond the classroom, I am also a full stack developer, merging my passion for education with my technical skills. Proficient in both front-end and back-end development, I utilize a range of technologies, including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, PHP, C#, React, Node.js, MongoDB, and more. This dual expertise allows me to create web applications that not only address real-world problems but also provide innovative and engaging learning experiences for my students.
